BLOOMFIELD REPUBLICANS.

OPENING OF THE CAMPAIGN MONDAY EVENING.

The Republican voters of Bloomfield Township met in Dodd's Hall last Monday evening for the purpose of choosing delegates to the Congressional and Assembly conventions, and one member of the Essex county Republican Committee.

The meeting was called to order by T. E. Hayes. Chas. M. Davis was elected chairman and Howard B. Davis Secretary.

A motion to proceed at once to the election of delegates by ballot was carried, also, that both classes of delegates and a member of County Committee be elected on same ballot.

The Chairman appointed as tellers, E. W. Sutton and H. C. Tanner.

Nominations as follows were made by Mr. Nathan Russell:

Delegates to Congressional Convention, Halsey M. Barrett, M. Winthrop Jones, F. S. Benson, David W. Smith, C. E. F. Davis, Stan Farrand, William Cadmus and N. Harvey Dodd.

Delegates to Assembly Convention, Thomas Oakes, Thomas McGowen, Wm A. Baldwin, G. Lee Stout, John G. Zabriskie, John Sanderson, John G. Keyler and Frederick H. Pilch.

For member of County Committee, H. E. Richards.

Mr. Thomas E. Hayes was also nominated for member of County Committee, and a committee of five, to nominate an executive committee to arrange for the campaign was appointed, consisting of H. M Barrett, James C. Beach, Walter S. Freeman, Dr. H. E. Richards and G. T. Moore.

The preamble and resolution, (as printed on Editorial page of THE CITIZEN), introduced by Mr. C. N. Bovee, Jr., was read and adopted, and the delegates nominated as above, upon a canvass of the ballots, were declared elected. Dr. H. E. Richards was chosen as member of the County Committee.

The executive committee for the campaign, as recommended and adopted, are as following: Chas. H. Halpenny, Thos. Oakes, Halsey M. Barrett, T. E. Hayes, Wm. A Baldwin, John G. Keyler, E. W. Sutton, C. E. F. Davis, Walter S. Freeman, Thos. McGowan, G. A. Wheeler Howard B. Davis, M. A. Dailey, F. S. Benson, Geo. W. Cook and N. H. Dodd.

The executive committee were notified to meet on Friday evening in their room adjoining the Town Committee room, Dodd Building.

Democratic Assembly Convention.

The First Assembly District Democratic Convention convened at Carl's Building on Thursday evening, and nominated Henry Ahlborn. The four votes of the Bloomfield and Franklin delegations were given for Daniel J. Brady, and the six coming from Caldwell, Montclair and Belleville were cast for Ahlborn. Before balloting speeches were made, chiefly in favor of Mr. Ahlborn, because he ran so well last year and came within a few votes of election, and because also he was the "workingman's friend" who would do all things for him if they would stand united and put him in. The only speech made for Mr. Brady was by Delegate Bill, of Bloomfield, who claimed that his candidate was a true Democrat and a workingman in fact. A motion to make the nomination of Ahlborn unanimous was stubbornly resisted, the delegates who were against him raising both hands to indicate their opposition, and hisses predominated when an effort was made to get up cheers for the nominee, and they were given for Brady instead. Disorder was rampant, and delegates came to close quarters, shaking their fists and turning the convention into a veritable bedlam for the time being. When order was partially restored, Dr. Butler undertook the task of administering a sedative to counteract the effect of the bitter dose that had been forced down the throats of the "labor element," but with poor success. They wouldn't take his medicine at all, and the Convention broke up without making arrangements for running the campaign.

Mr. Stanford's Business Experience in Bloomfield.

In the spring of the present year, Mr. E. Wilde having relinquished business at the oldest established stand in Bloomfield, Mr. Geo. J. Stanford, of Newark, leased the place. Under his management it was transformed into a mercantile emporium of great convenience to the public and exceeding beauty of finish. Some criticism has been made of the remodeling of the upper part of the building, but the ground floor plan, the windows and the entrances, with the rich and varied lines of goods bought and displayed by Mr. Stanford, presented attractions that not only greatly pleased the eye, but were advantages to the purchasing public such as few towns the size of Bloomfield could expect to possess. Mr. Stanford offered goods of great variety at the lowest prices; and, as the columns of THE CITIZEN have borne testimony, he has set an example of enterprise to other merchants by his generous advertisements. He has not "hid his light under a bushel" but has let it shine liberally. Yet, for various reasons, his trade has not been what he expected, nor indeed what it ought to have been, considering his honest aim to meet the wants of the people in every way practicable.

This dullness of trade, with the delay in the improvements after he had made purchases, made it difficult for the merchant to meet all his obligations, and two weeks ago he felt obliged to call a meeting of his creditors and to ask of them extensions of time, until he could dispose more fully of goods on hand. These extensions were freely granted, but with malicious intention to injure him, as Mr. Stanford believes and says, rumors and mere fabrications affecting his credit were put in circulation about town. These the reporter for the Newark Journal caused to be published as "facts," and this grossly untrue report that Mr. Stanford had failed, thus published, was eagerly copied by the Montclair Times and other papers, and the effect has been to ruin Mr. Stanford's chance of meeting his obligations, and tide himself over in the manner contemplated, and hence he has been compelled to make an assignment. This was done last week Friday, the assignee being Mr. Wm. P. Roome of Jersey City.

There is a chance that Mr. Stanford will be enabled to continue business, as he has the sympathy, good will and confidence of his creditors, and we feel assured deserves that of the public in this vicinity.

The Bazaar.

The Bazaar held in Library Hall, last Friday, realized three hundred dollars for the Sunday School building fund.

The tables were tastefully arranged, and most of their contents found ready purchasers. A large share of the success of the Bazaar must be acknowledged due to those gentlemen and ladies not directly connected with the school, though interested in it. Of these friends, some paid the rent of the hall and assisted in defraying other expenses, while others donated most of the contents of the grocery, candy and Japanese tables, to whom and to those who waited on the tables we would offer most hearty thanks. To those also who served at the flower and stationery tables—not forgetting the willing workers of the refreshment department, nor those who in any capacity lent their aid—cordial thanks are extended.

On the day following the Bazaar, a case of thirty-five books for the Sunday School library was received from a friend, to whom also, in the name of the school, we address a card of thanks.

GLEN RIDGE.

Park M. E. Church.

Last Sunday was "Autumnal" day at the Park M. E. church. The church was appropriately trimmed with Autumn leaves and flowers, and there was quite a variety of farm products in the way of apples, etc., displayed. The pastor preached a very suitable sermon for the occasion, taking for his text, 18th verse, 3d chapter, 2d Peter, selecting therefrom the word "grow."

The regular meeting of the Young People's Association of the Park M. E. church was held on Monday evening. The programme consisted of essays and some very fine vocal selections. This being the annual meeting, the election of officers for the ensuing year took place, which resulted as follows: President, David P. Lyall; Vice-President, Mrs. John H. Taylor; Secretary, John H. Taylor; Treasurer, M. E. Hemstreet.

Rev. Albert Mann Jr., who recently returned from a 3 months trip to Europe, will deliver a lecture bearing on his travels in Spain, at the Park M. E. church, on the 8th of November. Mr. Mann has excellent descriptive powers as well as a fine flow of language, and a very entertaining lecture is looked for.

Wedded at Noon.

"Happy the bride upon whom the sun shines," and it was a meridian sun, tempered by the mellow haze of autumn, that shone last Wednesday when promptly at the hour appointed, the doors of the First Presbyterian Church opened to admit a bridal procession. The parties seeking happiness were William Gray Langstroth and Kate Baldwin Freeman, daughter of Mr. Walter S Freeman. An assemblage of invited guests and friends filled the church. The bride was handsomely attired in a dark green velvet dress and carried a bunch of Marechal Neil roses. The best man was T. Howell Johnson, and the ushers were Mr. Johnson, and Messrs. Howard Davis, Thaddeus Genin and Charles D. M. Peele. The knot was impressively tied by the pastor, Rev. H. W. Ballentine and everything passed off pleasantly. The young couple, immediately after the ceremony, departed on a tour which will extend to the National Capital. They were the recipients of many beautiful presents, and take with them the best wishes of a large circle of friends

Workingmen's Convention.

A convention of united workingmen of the First Assembly District was called to meet in connection with the Congressional Labor Convention at Saenger Hall on Monday night, but adjourned without finishing its business to meet again in Bloomfield Tuesday night. At the adjourned convention delegates from the various labor organizations of the First Assembly District were present and unanimously nominated Daniel J. Brady as the candidate of united labor for Assemblyman from the district. Mr. Brady is a hat finisher, and is a prominent officer in the organization of that trade

Improved Sewerage.

Mr. A. M. Jordan, superintendent of the "Improved Sewerage and Sewage Utilization Co.," whose works are located at Atlantic City, writes to the publisher of THE CITIZEN as follows:

* * * "All we wish for our system is a fair showing and we can convince any reasonable man that it is the system above all others.

"As I said to Mr. Duffield had I clay soil for a filter instead of sand, I could produce water almost pure enough to drink. The trouble with sand is that it is too loose and allows too many particles of sewage to go through. Shall at all times deem it a pleasure to show any of your citizens our own works."

National Provident Union.

At the last meeting of Phil. Kearny Council, No. 35, held last Monday evening, the grade of Superior Citizenship was conferred upon three candidates. J. M. Unangst was elected delegate to the National Convention to be held in Brooklyn, on November 10th, and Chas. A. Clark, Alternate. In good and welfare a pleasant hour was spent in recitations, singing and reading. Phil. Kearney Council is gaining ground rapidly and intends to be second to no Society in Bloomfield.

—The Y. F. M. D. Association opened the season, Wednesday evening, with a soiree in the Empire Rink. About 100 ladies and gentlemen were present including many from Orange. The evening was spent in dancing.

Elevated Railways.

Mr. F. A. Bartholomew, of Bloomfield, was lately in Chicago for the purpose of introducing the Riley Elevated Railway system to notice in that city. The Chicago Times speaks favorably of it, and says:

"An examination of the models which are very elaborate and complete and of the numerous and handsome colored drawings illustrative of the Riley system, will convince anyone that an immense amount of time and labor has been expended in perfecting and illustrating the matter. It will be seen that the construction of the roadway consists practically of a single girder, attached to the top of which is the main or single bearing rail. About two feet below this center rail and parallel with it, one upon each side, runs a light rail. The center rail practically supports the weight of the car, and the lower side rails act as balances. Each car-truck has four wheels. The center wheels, one before the other, run upon the rail, and are double flanged. The lower wheels are single flanged, and are set midway between the center wheels, one on each side. The truck is centrally pivoted, like the ordinary bogie truck, and adapts itself to sharp curves very nicely, as shown by the models. The advantages of the Riley system are of vital importance. Briefly told they are: Great reduction in cost, by reason of simplicity of construction, width of superstructure—as compared with New York system reduced 50 per cent; a car which is positively safe from derailment and less noise in operation; a truck that can round curves as sharp as forty feet radius with ease and perfect safety The cars run with a perfectly steady and easy motion, no swaying or oscillation. When built, on a single post, a very stable and substantial structure. The system is especially adapted to the use of electric motors as a motive power, but plans of steam locomotives and the cable system are shown. The system has the strongest indorsement of leading locomotive and car builders and well-known civil mechanical engineers and electricians of this country, and has received a critical examination by many of our own people, who speak of it in the highest terms."

County Conventions.

The Republican Convention to nominate a candidate for Congress in the Sixth District, met in the Academy of Music Wednesday afternoon, with all the delegates present A platform was adopted favoring tariff, a labor bureau regulating interstate commerce, favoring interchangeability of gold and silver, the redemption of the trade dollar, a liberal pension policy for the benefit of Union soldiers and sailors, endorsing the course of Congressman Lehlbach, and eulogizing Captain Benjamin F. Harvey, Republican candidate for Governor.

The Democratic Congressional Convention at Orange, Wednesday, nominated Mayor Haynes, of Newark as their candidate. There were no contested seats except from Belleville, when each delegation was given a half vote. Labor Inspector Fell made a strong effort to have the Convention endorse Mr. Beckmeyer for Congress. The names of Mayor Haynes, and Messrs. Kruger, Balbach and Durgee were also presented. The vote was then taken, resulting in 80 for Haynes and 17 for Beckmeyer.

Wedding Gifts.

As the present season of the year arrives, weddings are largely on the increase and guests are perplexed to know what to present to the bride.
